

Board Charter

This Board Charter was approved on 16th May 2019.

The Role of the Board

The Company's primary objective is to provide shareholders with long term investment returns from a portfolio of Australian shares. The Board's role is to facilitate the satisfactory achievement of this overarching objective, while carefully controlling risk.

Specific Responsibilities of the Board

The Board is specifically responsible for:

- Prudential control of the Company's operations including:
 - i. Ensuring that Whitefield operates in accordance with the Company's Constitution, the Corporations Act, the ASX listing rules and any other applicable laws;
 - ii. The development and approval of policies to guide board and committee members and executive management on matters including but not limited to values, culture, reputation, ethical standards and risk management;
 - iii. The development and monitoring of the company's Risk Management Framework which encompasses executive operations, internal controls, accounting and corporate reporting systems, external audit and the provision of all relevant information to the Board;
 - iv. Monitoring the effectiveness of the company's Governance practices
- The resourcing, review and monitoring of executive management and business outcomes, including challenging and holding management accountable;
- The timeliness and accuracy of external reporting to shareholders and all other disclosure requirements;
- Considering and approving material company expenditure when required;
- Satisfying itself that the Company's remuneration policies are aligned with Whitefield's objectives, values and risk appetite;
- Developing, validating and approving the Company's overall corporate objectives and strategy in conjunction with executive management;
- Appointment of a Company Chairperson, a Deputy Chairperson (where appropriate) and Company Secretary.

Composition of the Board

The Board structure is based on the following principles:

- The board to consist of a minimum of three and not more than five directors (other than the managing director);
- A majority of the board to be independent, non-executive directors;
- The board to contain a balance of both non-executive and executive directors (including the managing director) to ensure that decision making appropriately embraces both external and internal knowledge and experience;
- The Chairman of the Board to be either independent, or where non-independent, a senior independent director shall fill the role of Deputy Chairman in situations where the Chairman is conflicted.

Independence of Directors

An independent director is considered to be a director:

- (a) who is not an executive;
- (b) who has not within the last three years been employed in an executive capacity by the Company or been a principal of a professional adviser or consultant to the Company;
- (c) is not a significant supplier to the Company;
- (d) is not in receipt of performance based remuneration;
- (e) has no material contractual relationship with the Company other than as a director; and
- (f) is free from any interest or business or other relationship which could materially interfere with the director's ability to act in the best interests of the Company.

In the context of director independence, "materiality" is considered from both the company and individual director's perspective. The determination of materiality requires consideration of both quantitative and qualitative elements. An item is presumed to be quantitatively immaterial if it is equal or less than 5% of the appropriate base amount. It is presumed to be material (unless there is qualitative evidence to the contrary) if it is equal to or greater than 10% of the appropriate base amount. Qualitative factors considered include whether a relationship is strategically important, the competitive landscape, the nature of the relationship and the contractual or other arrangements governing that relationship.

Appointment and Renewal

The Company's Constitution requires directors other than the managing director to retire and seek re-election at least every three years. Any new Director appointed, other than the managing director, must seek election at the next Annual General Meeting following their appointment.

Details on the qualifications, experience and (if appropriate) length of tenure of a director standing for election, a statement by directors on the independence of the candidate and a statement by directors as to their support for the candidate's election shall be provided to all shareholders within the Notice of Meeting. Where a new director is proposed for election, a statement shall also be included confirming that appropriate background checks have been completed, and disclosing any relevant information so obtained. Candidates for election shall be provided with an opportunity to speak to shareholders at the Annual General Meeting prior to a vote on their election being taken.

The Company holds a written agreement with each Director setting out the terms of their appointment.

A newly appointed Director to the Board shall be issued with a copy of all Company Policies and Charters, and is provided with opportunities to meet and liaise with investment management and administration personnel. Within the annual Board review process, the Nomination Committee considers and encourages Board members to undertake appropriate levels of professional development.

Nomination Committee

The Board has established a Nomination Committee which operates under its own formal charter. The Nomination Committee is responsible for the determination of the appropriate size and composition of the Board, criteria for Board membership, the assessment of Board independence, identification and review of potential candidates, including the conduct of appropriate checks into a prospective director's background including their character, education, currency of experience, other executive or Board commitments, criminal or bankruptcy records, terms and conditions of appointment to and retirement from the Board, and the assessment of Board performance. The Nomination Committee conducts the background checking process on both executive and non-executive directors and the Company Secretary.

The Committee utilises a skills matrix when assessing Board composition. The Committee's target is to ensure that director's skills collectively include investment, accounting, taxation, general business experience and shareholder representation.

Diversity Policy

The Company has a Diversity Policy which recognises the importance and benefits of being able to attract, retain and motivate Board members from the widest possible pool of available talent. The Company seeks to have no barriers to the selection or retention of Board members relating to disability, ethnicity, marital or family status, religious or cultural background, sexual orientation or gender, and will purely seek to select Board members on the basis of their merit on relevant metrics. The Company considers the impact of size in the practical implementation of its diversity policy, and accordingly does not believe it would be practical to set measurable objectives to achieve diversity.

Operation of the Board

The Board holds four scheduled meetings each year plus any other meetings as and when necessitated by the Company's operations. A quorum of three is required for the operation of the Board.

The agenda for meetings is prepared by Company Secretary utilising the input of the Chairman, Managing Director, Non-Executive Directors and executives. The agenda for scheduled meetings includes at a minimum matters of compliance, governance, financial outcomes, financial position and shareholder communications. As and when required the agenda will include updates to educate directors on material changes in regulation and law. The agenda and materials are circulated in advance of all meetings. Minutes are prepared as an accurate record of proceedings shortly after each meeting.

Each director has the right of direct access to the Company Secretary and executive directors and subject to the approval of the Board to executive staff.

Directors may seek independent professional advice, when required to properly discharge their responsibilities, at the entity's expense with the prior approval of the Board. A copy of advice received by a director shall be made available to all other members of the Board.
